

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

All the wars aren't being fought with blazing tanks, long-range bombers, grim battle cruisers and marching men, even though that kind of war has pushed most of the political and business brannigans off the front pages.

There are several high-powered wars raging in the State Legislature which, in normal times, would crash headlines.

So heated have become some of the north-south feuds this session, for example, that Assemblymen Hugh Burns of Fresno and Harold Sawallisch of Contra Costa county have introduced a concurrent resolution seeking a legislative investigation "to study the practicability and advisability of dividing the State of California into two distinct commonwealths." The state-division resolution probably won't go anywhere, but the mere fact that it was introduced is evidence that furious battling over labor issues, reapportionment and sundry other questions has put an edge to the usual rivalry between southern and northern interests.

Agriculture and labor have been at each other's throats ever since the session opened, with the farmers having the best of it thus far, but with labor threatening to carry the issue to the people.

The question of whether the state should introduce sales tax tokens is stirring up bitter controversy at the moment, while the battle of the budget has sharpened the line of cleavage between the Economy Bloc and Governor Olson's forces.

Currently, the trucks, have opened fire on the railroads, ships and express companies, with a bill designed to stop store-door delivery service by these forms of transportation and force them to turn over their supplemental services to certificated truck carriers.

In this incipient war, that may be snuffed out before it gathers headway, or may turn into a battle royal if it gets out of hand, the certificated truck carriers are openly seeking to restrict rival forms of transportation from operating truck lines to supplement their usual service—and are defying the rule that "competition is the life of trade." The moot bill, A. B. 2119, would, if enacted, reverse the policies of both the Interstate Commerce Commission which have approved the action of the railroads in establishing truck operations in coordination with their rail services.

Yes, there's war on all fronts at Sacramento—war between the north and south, war between the trucks and the rails, war between labor and the farmer. But Hitler's war has badly overshadowed the whole legislative fracas.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without a license and fleeing from the scene of an accident. Driving from Culver City he clipped a school bus just outside of Campbell which was seen by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Sunseri, who stopped him and turned him over to Highway Patrolman John Sansone.

Drama To Be Given Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the production of "Under the Gaslight" will be presented by the Footlighters for the benefit of St. Lucy's church in the high school auditorium.

After the full dress rehearsal last night, members of the cast are confident that this moving, captivating and chaste play of the 1900's will delight and entertain the most fastidious.

To make this melodrama more interesting, special scenery and costumes have been obtained by members of the organization.

Those who have not obtained tickets may purchase them at the box office of the auditorium.

MOTHER'S DAY

As the world judges greatness, there are not many truly great women, just as there are not many really great men. When such a woman comes along, the world usually recognizes her—or thinks it does.

But every mother's son knows that the world is woefully short on that score. As plain as the nose on his face he can see a glimmering of greatness in his mother, a touch of sacrifice and humility, a spark of genius, a bit of loveliness and understanding of which the world is generally quite unaware.

Ernie Pyle, the Indiana farm boy who turned newspaperman so successfully that his travel tales are cabled daily over half the world, knows all that. He paid a tribute to his mother shortly after her death recently that many men of this Mother's Day might wish they had penned about their mothers: "Few people have the good fortune to be born of a really great woman," wrote Pyle. "I am one of them. I do not say that just because she was my mother. I say it because I think she bore a son with enough intelligence to recognize greatness of character when he sees it."

It is a happy, human circumstance that most mothers don't care much whether or not the world considers them great. If their sons and daughters do that's fame and fortune enough to put a warm glow in the heart of any mother.

HERE COMES H. C. L.

In the year preceding the first World War, the high cost of living went right on climbing, increasing 19.9 per cent during 1916.

Shortages were declared and ration cards were issued. America was called on to feed the world, and built an agricultural plant to accomplish the task. Food costs rose higher and people were sent to jail for hoarding on one hand and speculating on the other.

The picture is somewhat different now.

"Food prices will rise in the present emergency," declares John A. Logan, Secretary of the Food Procurement Advisory Committee of OPM. "But they will rise only gradually."

It is fervently to be hoped that Mr. Logan's prediction is correct, and we surmise it is. Actually, the American agricultural machinery is geared for overproduction, not underproduction. Farmers are still being subsidized for not raising crops, and there are still huge surpluses of many commodities.

Every family head will be glad of the reassurance from the Secretary of Food Procurement that in the months ahead, bread and milk and meat and sugar prices will maintain a fairly even keel taking no disproportionate slice out of the family paycheck.

A LETTER FROM LONDON

When the city of San Francisco experienced its baptism of fire and earthquake 35 years ago, it little dreamed it was blazing a trail or doing a favor for generations unborn, across the world.

When its people wiped their tears and bound their wounds and pitched in to clear 521 blocks of charred, scarred ruins; when they made their careful plans to rebuild a city—those people would have smiled if they'd been told their meticulous reconstruction work would one day benefit another ruined city—the biggest in the world.

But the havoc wrought by war in London is being measured in light of its nearest parallel—the San Francisco quake and fire. From London recently came a letter asking for advice and counsel on the

OUR STATE GOVERNMENT

—GEORGE REILLY—

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

(In a new series of articles on "Our State Government," Commissioner George R. Reilly, our member of the State Board of Equalization, plans a streamlined analysis of the most important departments of state government, and their functions. The series when complete will give a comprehensive and informative picture to our readers as to how state government in California works.)
—EDITOR

The State Treasurer, who is elected to a four-year term, heads a governmental agency divided into four departments, namely — receiving, bond deposit, vault and warrant. The receiving department accepts and reports daily on all money deposited into the state treasury. The bond department supervises the deposit of funds in the banks of California. It collects the highest interest obtainable, safeguards against loss of money, acts as a central agency for all securities passing in and out of the state treasury, and purchases securities for the several state sinking funds. The vault department controls outstanding bonded indebtedness of the state. The warrant department receives all state warrant from banks, totaling some 250,000 monthly.

The state treasury is in reality the official bank of the state, and is operated in the same manner as any great banking institution. In the past few years its business has increased 200 per cent. Charles G. Johnson is the present State Treasurer.

The Controller's primary duty is acting as the chief fiscal officer of the State. He keeps the accounts of the State, and money can be paid out of the State Treasury only upon his warrant. An independent audit of all claims made against the state is a main responsibility of the Controller, and he is one of the busiest men in State Government.

Paying the state's bills for rebuilding job to be done there, and San Francisco officials hastened to respond in detail, in accordance with the city's experience.

To those who witnessed the fearful scene of a city's desolation in 1906, it seems scarcely believable that man would contrive to deal out that kind of punishment to a great civilian population, purposely.

We are glad to know that the rehabilitation pattern fashioned then, today is helping other men face their ruins with courage and hope.

WE LOVE TO TELL THE STORY

Most Californians, in the opinion of most non-Californians, are insufferably proud of their state and gratuitously vocal about its fine points. It's a pleasure when a definitely out-of-state source spreads the good word for California particularly when that source is considered unimpeachable, like Dr. Edward Thorndike, noted Columbia University psychologist.

"California outranks all other states in 'goodness,'" says Dr. Thorndike, "topping Connecticut, Washington, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York and Oregon in that order." The latest scientific test for 'goodness' was applied to all the states along 37 different lines including illiteracy, poverty, homicide rate, prevalence of radios and telephones, per capita expenditures for public health, education, libraries and museums.

Through the years such tests are repeated, proving again and again what any good Californian can tell a scientific searcher for goodness right off-hand—that this state tops all the rest easily. But California loves the story and will be delighted to go on telling it as long as doubters remain, scientific searchers ask and printers' ink holds out.

services and supplies—bills which total nearly a half billion every two years—and keeping the books, require absolute accuracy. Claims are filed with the department incurring the bills, but they come to the controller for audit and payment, and the final responsibility is his. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938, the controller refused to pay incorrect or improper claims aggregating over $10,000,000.

The administration of the inheritance tax is one of his jobs. He collects taxes aggregating 64 million dollars a year. Every year 8,000 estates pay inheritance taxes through the controller's office. The controller is also a statistician, gathering data regarding state, county, municipal and district indebtedness, tax rates and many other facts.

It has been the duty of the controller, ever since 1933, to sell registered warrants necessary to finance the general fund of the state.

The controller audits relief claims and draws warrants for S. R. A. workers as well as for all other state employees. Lands deeded to the state for non-payment of taxes are in the custody of the controller, who cooperates with taxpayers and county officials in assisting redemption of such property.

Another duty of the controller, in connection with the collection of gasoline taxes, is to refund the gas tax paid by farmers and others who have not used the gasoline on the public highways.

In addition, the controller is a member of 26 boards and commissions, exercising various functions. Harry B. Riley is our State Controller.

ADMINISTRATION

The Campbell Union High school district is composed of four elementary school districts consisting of Campbell, Cambrian, Moreland and Union. In addition to these most of the graduates from the Almaden and many from the Burbank Elementary districts attend our high school. A few graduates of the Willow Glen school are also accepted. The number here, however, is limited.

The district is governed by a board of five trustees elected by the district at large, each for a term of three years. The board is as follows:

Dr. Frank R. Anderson, president; Mrs. Jessie A. Shelley, clerk; Joseph A. Conner, Raymond B. Bishop, John D. Blaine.

The board determines the general policies under which the school is operated, elects teachers and conducts the business of the school. The members of this board serve without any remuneration and unselfishly give of their time.

The administrative staff of the school consists of the principal, W. H. Van Dyke, who is the executive and directs the various activities of the school under the direction of the board of trustees; the vice-principal, Miss Helen Nielson, who assists the principal in his duties and also acts as a counselor and handles boys' attendance; the dean of girls, Alfreda Runge, who is our school nurse, in addition to her duties as such, handles girls' attendance; the counselor, Miss Eunice Reader, who assists the students in properly selecting courses and in general counsels them so that they may get the best possible benefit from their school experiences; the director of extra-curricular activities, Ralph E. Noddin, who coordinates the various activities of the student government, encourages the students to participate in these activities.

Eight Campbell Union High school students were nominated to compete in the final elections for the student council. They were Carolyn Burgess, Lila Mae Baptist, Jane Taylor, Betty Adamson, Phillip Griffin, Al Hartley, and Bill Harris.

On May 13 these candidates will be presented before the assembled student body to present the platforms on which they seek election. LIGHTWEIGHTS WIN IN TRACK

Campbell took on the Fremont and Washington track teams at the local track last Friday and chalked up decisive victories in the lightweight divisions but bowed to Washington in the two heavyweight competitions.

The 110 and 120 divisions of Campbell's squad did excellent work and were well ahead of the Washington and Fremont squads by the end of the meet. The 30's went strong in all events but were given a bitter let-down when they missed first place by a one-point margin.

Among the outstanding participants was Van Gorkum who stole the show by winning his block in the first meet with three first places in the 100 and the 220 yard dashes and in the running broad jump. Cukar won two first places for the 20's in the discuss and shot-put. Crawley ran the high hurdles for the varsity in 17.6, which is considered very fast time.

A five-way meet will be held after school today on the Campbell track with Santa Clara, Fremont, Gilroy, Live Oak and Campbell participating.

Still an Embittered Man

By IRVIN S. COBB

ON THE day after the adjournment of the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1920, Thoreau Cronyn, of the New York Herald, telegraphed to his newspaper an uncommonly good description of the getaway. For an opening paragraph he wired this quotation: "The Captains and the Kings depart." Did his opening paragraph get by the alert copy editor? When Cronyn got a copy of his paper on his way back East, this is what he read: "The political captains and the managers of the convention have now left this city." That was nearly five years ago but Cronyn has been an embittered and a changed man ever since.

CONTROL OF TUBERCULOSIS IS NATIONAL DEFENSE NEED, EXPERT CONTENDS

Health Workers to Discuss Disease at State Conference

The part to be played by health agencies in national defense preparations will be stressed by Dr. Kendall Emerson, eastern visitor, in discussing un-conquered frontiers in tuberculosis work, at the annual meeting of the California Tuberculosis Association to be held at Del Monte, April 3, 4 and 5.

Dr. Emerson, who is managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, recently stated: "Our first duty in total defense is to learn the quality of our manpower; our second, to set about improving it as a major requisite for national defense protection."

Representatives of the army and of official health agencies will follow Dr. Emerson at the final session of the conference in outlining the tuberculosis control measures which should be instituted in military mobilizations and in industrial areas.

Other eastern visitors who will address this statewide gathering of medical and public health workers include Dr. Brian Blades, surgeon of Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, and Dr. Arthur J. Vorwald, pathologist of Saranac Lake, New York. Dr. Blades will discuss with the tuberculosis specialists gathered at the meeting a related disease of the chest, bronchiectasis, while Dr. Vorwald will discuss silicosis, a disease often associated with tuberculosis and of particular concern in the mining regions of California.

Some tuberculosis problems of particular importance in California, as well as latest developments in techniques for finding unrecognized cases of tuberculosis, will be discussed by those concerned with the public health administrative aspects of tuberculosis control.

The meeting is expected to bring together several hundred physicians, health officers, public health nurses, health educators and others from all parts of California.

Information On Ticket Sales For Entertainments

There is apparently a rather wide spread lack of information regarding the national defense regulations for production and sale of tickets for any type of entertainment where the admission is 21 cents or over.

In order to prevent violations of law and the possible involvement of a group or individual in difficulty with the Internal Revenue department, we are printing the article with information concerning it.

It would be advisable to clip this item and preserve it for reference as the procedure is rather technical.

"ART. 30, PRINTING OF TICKETS—NOTICE TO BE GIVEN—Where tickets or cards of admission to any place for admission to which a charge of 21 cents or more is made are printed, manufactured, or sold by any person, it shall be the duty of that person to give prompt notice to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the district in which is located the place to which admission is to be charged. Such notice shall state (1) the name and address of the person to whom the tickets are furnished, and (2) the number of tickets furnished, and shall be accompanied by proofs or sample copies of the tickets themselves. If the tickets are serially numbered, the notice must also contain a statement as to such serial numbers."

This matter is brought to your attention in order that there may be no violation of the law in this respect. The law also requires that each ticket of admission must show the place and address at which the admission is valid, and must show thereon the price of admission. It is now unlawful to print any tickets where the admission is 21 cents or more, on which

New Tail

The animal that can grow a new tail is a peculiarity of lizards. When seized by an enemy from behind, the tail breaks off at one of the joints of the backbone. The severed part continues to wriggle for some time, holding the attention of the pursuer while the lizard escapes. Some species will abandon their tails even before they are seized and immediately start growing new ones.

If exemption has been granted from the collection of tax, the wording "Tax Exempt" must appear on the ticket. WHY TRY TO FAN-OUT THE HEAT?

BE Cool THIS SUMMER WITH ELECTRIC COOLING

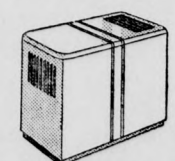

Is it HOT and DRY where you live and work?

Electric Evaporative Cooler

A fan is not much help giving comfort when the air is hot and dry as dust. You stir up the air, perspiration trickles down the back and you just get hotter and dryer. Let an Electric Evaporative Cooler blow a cool, refreshing breeze through the rooms of your home this summer. The Evaporative Cooler is low in first cost and inexpensive in operation. An Evaporative Cooler supplies cool moist air as if blown through a waterfall just outside the window.

Is it HOT and STICKY with heat and humidity where you live and work?

Electric Air-Conditioning Room Cooler

In many parts of California it is the heat plus humidity that makes summertime a season of misery. Steamy heat must be changed to cool, dry air. A fan cannot do this. Only real Air Conditioning by means of the efficient Electric Room Cooler can do this. Inside is a freezing system with fans that draw in hot, humid air, then dry and chill this air and circulate it through a room. There is an electrical dealer near you who will give the facts about electric cooling.
